History of Optometry

The history of optometry is full of events, people, organizations, and stories, coming together to reveal a proud heritage and confident future. Many significant histories have been written that document in detail the development of the profession. Timelines provide a short chronological “snapshot” of selected historical milestones, with key dates, people and important events.

History of Optometry Cares - The AOA

Optometry is the health-care profession concerned especially with examining the eye for defects and faults in vision, in order to prescribe appropriate optical aids or eye exercises, with diagnosing diseases of the eye, and with treating such diseases or referring them for treatment.

Indiana University - School of Optometry

It began with a vision

The notion of an optometry school at Indiana University was first seriously discussed by Indiana optometrists John P. Davey and Noah A. Bixler in the late 1930s. One extreme position is that optometry began about 100 years ago when the first optometry licensure laws were passed in the US. Another extreme position is that the ancient Chinese invented the first eyeglasses 1000 years ago. The history of optometry began with early studies on optics and image formation by the eye. The origins of optometric vision science (related areas of medicine, microbiology, neurology, physiology, psychology, etc.) lie in the exploration of optical aids, optical instruments, imaging techniques, other eye care professions.

The earliest eyeglasses 1000 years ago ...

The history of optometry can be traced back to the early studies on optics and image formation by the eye. The origins of optometric vision science (optics, as taught in a basic physics class) date back a few thousand years BC, as evidence of the existence of lenses for distance vision has been found. It is unknown when the first spectacles were made, but the British scientist and historian Sir Joseph Needham stated in his research that the ancient Chinese invented the first eyeglasses 1000 years ago.

History of Optometry Timeline created by AJYO! In History. Jan 1, 1263. Roger Bacon suggests use of lenses to improve vision.

Optometry was recognized as a separate field and distinct from the work of opticians as the correction of refractive errors dependant on experiments with lenses. The oldest lens that is known is a plano-concave piece of polished rock crystal, 3.8 cm in diameter with a focal length of 11.5 cm found in the ruins of Neronia, and dates back to 1263 BC.
